

Translated by: Toasterbacon **Note: I have no rights to any of this information i just translated it**

The information provider

we bring to the latest

Caanoo, the Wiz successor

This August brings GPH a successor of the Wiz out, the Caanoo.

Make time for production was discontinued by the Wiz. The hardware was published already once unbestätigt.

Data sheet:

- RAM: 128 MB (the double of the Wiz)
- 2 GB of internal flash memory display: 3.5 inch LCD 320 × 240

- SD / SDHC size: 146 (w) × 70 (h) × 18.5 (d) mm
- weight: approximately 140 grams.
- Flash: Lite2. 1
- WiFi adapter colors: black, white, silver, red.
- Analog joystick

Hardware which the Wiz does:

- G sensor
- Vibration
- analog joystick

The Caanoo is größtenteils like a PSP. The display of the Caanoo is 0.7 inches larger than the Wiz. Also, the character is no longer exist from the Wiz in the Caanoo. The interesting thing is the G sensor. It responds to the movements we commanding him. Once we assume that we play a game, that reacted to movements. We should rotate the Caanoo so after right to subject the plays in the game would move to the right. This feature ensures even more fun. The Internet on the Caanoo is now finally available. Where you want and when you want. Insert simply the adapter into, open Internet browser and go surfing. Which provided for a browser that is not specified yet. Many of the announced features may change at any time. Now is the crucial question: the Caanoo comes as Witz GPH.

Can I play the games of the Wiz on the Caanoo www.openhandhelds.org? The answer is: very warscheinlich. The Caanoo should be designed for the games games Wiz on it to run because otherwise all games and programs for the Caanoo would have extra be programmed. That would be a great effort and until people could play then would take a few months. The price of the GPH Caanoo equals approximately 150,00 euro. If you would like to have a Wiz can go to the homepage of www.gp2x.de and far above right click gp2x shop. Many questions are not answered and that they are not be 's to the Caanoo release date. We hope that this issue has helped you further and was also interesting to read.

Enjoy wishes you the infobringer